

Anders Karlsson leaves Avanza and his position in Group Management

Anders Karlsson and Avanza have reached a mutual agreement to part ways. Anders started his position at Avanza as Chief Product and Technology Officer (CPTO) and member of Group Management in June 2023. He is leaving his position today.

"Anders has many good qualities and has already contributed with many sharp insights and improvements within the product organisation. However, we have different views on leadership within Product and Tech, and have therefore decided to part ways", says Gunnar Olsson, Acting CEO of Avanza.

The recruitment of a replacement will begin shortly. Until further notice, Avanza's Group Management consists of seven members.
